

Managed Detection and Response

Secure your business with simple, affordable enterprise-grade protection

Risk is everywhere in your modern business environment. But we've got you covered.

In our always-on complex business world, key business assets can be on- or off-premise, anywhere in the world – and so is risk. You need to protect the way you do business today but common cybersecurity challenges can be barriers to your success:

- Finding security resources in the midst of a talent shortage
- Managing multiple non-integrated point solutions
- Reacting to the right alerts in a sea of data

SilverSky Managed Detection and Response (MDR) helps you eliminate the barriers to better security. Our managed services model makes protecting your modern environment simple, and delivers effective cybersecurity protection in a way that fits your business – and your budget.

SilverSky MDR

Cyber security that improves your security posture and compliance

In today's rapidly evolving threat landscape, you need someone actively watching your environment for threats and incidents 24x7x365. SilverSky MDR applies leading technology, deep analytics, machine learning and automation, and military-grade threat intelligence to streamline the volume of data feeds created by devices in your environment.

The unparalleled visibility allows our analysts to cut through the noise, reducing false positives and alert overload to find what really matters – in real time. You can access the same views of this activity anytime through our customer portal.

Once an incident is identified, minutes matter. We provide fast, actionable guidance to address threats before they cause damage to your business – and reinforce gaps in your defences so attackers can't exploit an attack vector again. Should you need more help or additional services, SilverSky has a full suite of scalable, managed security services you can leverage on-demand.

Protect

Our team of specialized security experts is laser-focused on protecting your organization and assets 24x7x365, freeing you to focus on your business.

Detect

Powerful, integrated technologies, ML, and military-grade threat intelligence help our analysts identify malicious activity faster.

Respond

Once a critical threat is identified, we guide you in your response to contain it and close the gap to mitigate future exploitation.

SilverSky MDR stands vigilant to defend your business so threats won't get in your way.
